

Max du Preez leaves Independent Media group - again

The Mail & Guardian Online reports that veteran journalist, Max du Preez will no longer associate himself with the Independent Media group. In a letter to executive editor, Karima Brown, he expressed his discomfort with his association with the group and how he will no longer write columns for their various titles. Click here to read the original.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>