

Condom campaign takes two winners to soccer final

The national Trust Condoms 'Defenceless without protection' awareness campaign has selected two winners of its VIP Soccer Experience competition. The campaign was to raise awareness of the importance of using condoms. Spreading awareness about condom use, the product's team also provided education, promoted condom use and increased awareness of availability for condoms.

The two winners, who had purchased product, won two tickets to watch the AFCON final match between Burkina Faso and Nigeria at Soccer City in Soweto. The prize, valued at R30,000, included airfare from the winners' home cities, flights, luxury transportation and hotel accommodation in Johannesburg and VIP access to a special suite at Soccer City. Winner number one was Orlando Pirates Slindile Ngidi and the second was Mbhekeni Mlilo from Swaziland, an avid Mamelodi Sundowns supporter.
