

Motion Graphics Designer/Animator

Remuneration:	negotiable market-related
Location:	Johannesburg
Remote work:	Only remote work
Education level:	Degree
Job level:	Mid/Senior
Type:	Permanent
Company:	Clearwater

We're searching for a motion designer to join our award-winning design studio in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Ideally, you're a formally trained graphic designer with a love for storytelling, an intuitive grasp of on-air communication, and appreciate the art of music, editing and beautiful design. You have an exceptional understanding of and experience in graphic and type design, illustration, art direction and photography and hands-on experience directing 3D animation, compositing and VFX. You definitely understand television production and post-production processes and totally get words like 'title sequence, line-ups, idents, bugs, branders, segments and endboards'.

If this resonates with you, you might just be that highly motivated, passionate individual that would jump at the opportunity to join us in our ongoing love affair with creating inspired award-winning work.

Also

- You have a tertiary qualification
- At least five+ years' industry-relevant years of design/animation experience under your belt
- Superb portfolio showcasing your virtuosity in a wide range of design disciplines
- Able to speak motion graphics - both 2D and 3D dialects
- An almost psychic connection with anything Apple Mac
- Clients, current and new, are like putty in your hands
- You work well with others
- Putting together strategic, immaculately presented treatment proposals gets you out of bed in the morning
- Conceptual thinking is how you unwind after a long day
- You get a kick out of solving problems that don't exist yet
- Big-picture thinker - from brief to final delivery

Please take the time to get in touch with us if all of these directly apply to you by sending your portfolio and CV to iwanttowork@clearwater.co.za.
