

2014 Standard Bank Sikuvile Journalism Awards entries closing soon

The Print and Digital Media South Africa (PDMSA) would like to remind all journalists, members and non-members of the PDMSA, that the 2014 Standard Bank Sikuvile Journalism Awards entry submission deadline is Friday, 14 February 2014. Late entries will not be considered.

The awards, which are initiated by PDMSA in partnership with Standard Bank, serve as a great platform to celebrate press freedom and commemorate excellence in South African journalism across various categories in both the print and digital media.

PDMSA chief executive Ingrid Louw commented, "We strongly encourage all journalists to enter the competition across all categories in celebration of our country's achievements as a free society and to outline the enhanced quality of South African journalism."
