

Stay up to date with elections through Al Jazeera

As the Zimbabwe elections take place today, 31 July 2013, three Al Jazeera reporters from TV and online, Haru Mutasa (@harumutasa), Mohammed Adow (@Moadow) and Azad Essa (@AzadEssa) will be covering the happenings and keeping the public up to date.

The Al Jazeera team will report on key electoral issues such as the economy, black empowerment, the legacy of Robert Mugabe's 33-year rule and the future of Zimbabwe. They will speak to ordinary citizens on their hopes and concerns for the future of Zimbabwe.

As social media will be playing a key role in the elections, the hashtag #Zimdecides will be tracked by the online team and Al Jazeera's social media programme The Stream.

Al Jazeera's flagship discussion programme, Inside Story, will also debate the key election points before and after the vote.
