According to the company, as of December 1, DStv customers will have more entertainment options with the introduction of three new DStv packages: DStv Confam, DStv Yanga and DStv Padi. GOtv subscribers will also receive two new GOtv packages: GOtv Jolli and GOtv Jinja.

John Ugbe, chief executive officer of MultiChoice Nigeria, said the introduction of new custom packages for Nigerians would open up a new level of entertainment and value for customers, offering them better choices and a whole new DStv and GOtv experience.

“We are constantly driven to ensure that customers are satisfied with the overall quality of our services. The new packages are exclusively curated from Naija and for Nigerians, driven by great programming and affordable prices. With improved package options available to our valued customers, they can choose a subscription plan that best fits their needs and budget. We remain committed to give millions of television viewers in Nigeria the opportunity to enjoy world class entertainment,” said Ugbe.

The new packages are provided with recently launched channels – Da Vinci, TNT Africa and Real Time – as well as other local channels, sports, cinema and general entertainment.

For new DStv packages, DStv Confam is a brand-new package designed for the whole family with over 120 channels.
